JUDGE VINCENT.

The Causes which led to his Removal as Chief Justice of New Mexico.

The removal of Judge Vincent from his position as Chief Justice of New Mexico, which was announced last week, has given rise to a good deal of comment, not only in New Mexico and Arizona but all over the country. The high reputation of the man and the dignity of the office which he filled makes this summary proceeding of the chief executive a matter of general interest. A special dispatch to the Globe-Democrat from Washington purports to give the causes which led to the President's action as follows:

The suspension of William A. Vincent, the new Democratic Chief Justice of New Mexico, was at the instance of Secretary Lamar. After it was known here that Judge Vincent had appointed Stephen W. Dorsey one of the Jury Commissioners the records of the General Land Office were produced, and it was shown that reports of special agents sent out during the past two years to investigate land frauds in New Mexico contained frequent references to Dorsey. Inasmuch as the Grand Jury to be appointed is expected to devote particular attention to these frauds, Judge Vincent's action was declared by the Secretary to be simply inexplicable. A. G. Burdham and John Carills, the other appointees of Judge Vincent, are said to have business interests with Dorsey. The case investigated by the Representatives was that of Miguel Obeytia. According to the records of the Land Office at Santa Fe, it appeared that Miguel Obeytia had entered a tract of land, lived upon it from 1877 to 1883, made improvements, and thus obtained a title. The county records showed that a month after Obeytia proved up his entry and obtained full possession he transferred the land to Stephen W. Dorsey for $500. The Obeytia claim is now the site of Robert G. Ingersoll's collection of log houses. The inspectors, who made a thorough investigation of this case, discovered that Miguel Obeytia was a myth; that no such person had ever lived on the tract within the period spoken of, as sworn by men who had been employed by Dorsey on his place. The tract is in front of Dorsey's house, and only a quarter of a mile away. Not only was it established that the land had never been occupied by such a man, but it was shown by affidavits that Miguel Obeytia was not known in that vicinity. Further than this, the educated Mexicans assured the inspectors that no such man as Obeytia was known in their language. And yet Dorsey's title to the tract depends upon Miguel Obeytia's deed, and the mythical Miguel obtained his claim by an alleged residence of six years on the land. Not only did the inspector fail to find Miguel, but he also failed to find any of the witnesses who swore to Miguel's residence and improvements. They, too, were wholly unknown in that vicinity, and Mr. Dorsey's own employees pleaded ignorance regarding their existence. It was established by the affidavit of the proprietor of the paper in which the Obeytia entry notice was published, to fulfill the legal requirements, that only half a dozen copies of the paper containing this and similarly designated notices were printed, and that the matter was left out of the regular issue of the paper by instruction, double price being paid for this kind of work. This is one case which was followed up and reported upon. The property thus acquired constitutes Mr. Dorsey's front door yard.

Among the most interesting entries at the Phoenix fair is that of a 400-pound bale of cotton, grown near Tempe; also a large sack of seed of the same. The bale represents the cotton sent from Arizona to the World's Exposition at New Orleans, where it took the $500 territorial prize, and was subsequently ginned and sent home—Record-Expositor.

Farmers of the Verde Valley raise a great deal of alfalfa and corn, and should not neglect to raise a great many hogs, for which there is always a good demand. Salt River Valley farmers are deep in the business of hog raising and do not complain of non-success, although they do not, like their Verde brethren, raise corn with which to fatten the meat. Verde Valley is known far and wide for its fine cattle and horses, and its next boast ought to be concerning its hog crop.—Prescott Courier.

Yavapai County has received full honors at the Phoenix Fair. Crowder, a Yavapai horse, won the race and purse of $100 the first day, and the Gazette says that the most noticeable of agricultural products is that of Mr. H. Waterman, of Peoples Valley, who presents a large line of vegetables, many of which would grace the table at any exposition. Prominent among them are cabbages weighing from sixteen to twenty pounds, and potatoes of the St. Patrick early and Peerless varieties that would terrify a son of the Green Isle to kleptomaniac—Journal-Miner.

MINES AND MINING.

James Penberly is taking out some very good ore from the Old Empire mine at Chloride.

The Contention mine, near Tombstone, has a re-processed specimen ready for the New Orleans Exposition.

Mr. Hugh White, formerly of the Benson Smelter, and some monied men of Tombstone will shortly erect a custom smelter at Nogales.

Reference to the advertisement of J. W. Spafford, on the third page of this issue, will show a splendid opportunity for an investment in mining property.

W. Engle had several tons of ore from the Prince George mine, near Kingman, sampled a few days since. The result shows that he has a paying property.

The first engine ever used on a mine at Calico has just been put up. Over $2,000,000 in bullion has been produced there, and no hoisting apparatus other than the common windlass.

It is said that Salisbury and White, of the Benson smelter, have dissolved partnership, and that the latter gentleman contemplates the erection of a smelter at the Nogales, in conjunction with some other capitalists.

The Mining Exhibit at the Phoenix fair is described as being unusually valuable and interesting. The undiscovered mineral wealth of Arizona would furnish specimens for a mineral exhibition that would astonish the world.

G. Urfer has returned from a visit to the Walnut Grove placer district. He is highly pleased with the improvements of the Oro Fino placer company, and is satisfied that they will prove a success.—Journal-Miner.

Henry Raymond is erecting a boarding house at the concentrator at Mineral Park and is fixing up the mill preparatory to starting up. The mills at the Park have in the past been a good deal like the mills of the gods,—grinding very slow—but under Mr. Raymond's management things will take a decided change for the better.—Wallapai Tribune.

TERRITORIAL ITEMS.

The railway bridge at Yuma has burned.

There was a $7,000 blaze at Quitova last week.

A great many Germans are settling in Arizona. They generally make good citizens.

Hon. C. C. Bran, Delegate to Congress, with his family, have left for Washington.

Mr. Chas. L. Mosher, editor of the Phoenix Gazette, and Miss Hattie Lount were married on October 10th.

The people of Tombstone and Tucson are vying with each other in doing honor to the new governor of the territory.

Among the most interesting entries at the Phoenix fair is that of a 400-pound bale of cotton, grown near Tempe; also a large sack of seed of the same. The bale represents the cotton sent from Arizona to the World's Exposition at New Orleans, where it took the $500 territorial prize, and was subsequently ginned and sent home—Record-Expositor.

RAILROAD LAND GRANTS.

Comm. S. J. Sparks of the land office, has issued an important document concerning the grant system of western railroads. It states that the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe company has half a million acres of land more than it is entitled to, and other railroads more or less in excess of what they can legally claim.

The commissioner thoroughly discusses the rights of settlers and asserts that these fraudulent extensions would have been exposed long ago, but for the fact that the railroad companies have had money and influence enough to keep the adjustments of the grants in the hands of their friends. He claims that office holders in the land department are responsible for many of these frauds and that maps have been made showing how false lines have been run in surveying grants, whereby large amounts of land have been taken from the public domain.

It is said that suits will be brought to recover from the railroads, lands patented in excess of their grants and where such lands have been sold the Government will demand a return of the money paid by the purchaser for all lands which have been thus fraudulently obtained.

Excellent results from the round-up now in progress are reported.

GOVERNOR ZULICK.

C. Meyer Zulick, the newly appointed Governor of this Territory, was born in Pennsylvania on June 3, 1839, and is therefore in his forty-seventh year. He graduated in a college at Easton, Penn., and afterwards studied law at Newark, New Jersey. At the opening of the war he joined the federal ranks as a private, and was promoted through the various grades until he became Lieutenant-colonel, commanding the second regiment of Washington, D. C., Volunteers. In 1873, after between two and three years of active service, he was compelled to retire in consequence of sickness resulting from injuries received in the field, and returning to Newark commenced the practice of law.

For several years he filled the office of Surrogate Judge, and was elected delegate at large from the State of New Jersey to the Cincinnati convention that nominated General Hancock for the Presidency, and during the campaign he did good work as chairman of the Democratic executive committee of his State. For the last two years Governor Zulick has spent most of his time in the West, principally in Southern Arizona, where he has considerable mining interests.

An Object Lesson.

"Papa, how do nations get into war with each other?" asked Tommy Seasonby.

"Sometimes one way, sometimes another," said the father. "Now there are Germany and Spain—they came near getting into war because a Spanish mob took down the German flag."

"No, my dear," put in Mrs. Seasonby, "that was the reason."

"No, my dear, you are mistaken. It was because the Germans—"

"Mrs. Seasonby, I say it was because—"

"Peleg, you know better. You are only trying to—"

"Madam, I don't understand that your opinion was asked in this matter anyway."

"Well, I don't want my boy instructed by an old ignoramus."

"See here, you impudent!"

"Put down your cane, you old brute. Don't you dare bridle up to me, or I'll send this rolling-pin at your head, you old—"

"Never mind," interrupted Tommy, "I guess I know now how wars begin."—Chicago News.

The World's Champion.

Mr. Edward Hanlan, the great oarsman, and until his recent contest with Beach in Australia, the champion of the world, may certainly be looked upon as an authority in everything affecting sports. Before leaving Australia for this country he wrote a letter in which he stated that he had used St. Jacobs Oil with the most beneficial results. He found it a reliable remedy for muscular pains in the arms and limbs, and from his personal experience took great pleasure in recommending it. No stronger proof of the truth of what is claimed for St. Jacobs Oil could be furnished than this, and it will undoubtedly carry great weight with all thoughtful and intelligent people.
